

Therapist Phone Recruitment Script

(Note: Please use own words to sound natural)

In talking to you I think you would do well with an approach to therapy called Trauma Practice. Along with some colleagues we are doing a research project that looks at how this method helps people.

Goals:

- To collect information about clients' thoughts feelings and experiences, before during and after they take part in therapy.
- Help us make improvements in therapy

Method:

- We will be asking you to fill out several questionnaires at 5 different times during your therapy. We will ask you questions about your thought and feelings about yourself, your therapist and how you are doing. The first set of questionnaires will take between 45 min-hour to fill out. Each subsequent set will take approximately 20-30 min to complete.

Confidentiality:

- Everything you say will be kept totally confidential.
- If you choose not to participate you will receive the same therapy you would otherwise.
- You can drop out of the study at any time

Questions:

- Do you have any further questions about the project and what we are doing?
- Do you wish to participate in this project?
